Significant Trading Contract

OneClickHR announces that, pursuant to an agreement signed last year with Ceridian, Ceridian has exercised its right to purchase a licence for HR.net for use across its operations globally. This licence allows Ceridian to utilise HR.net with its extensive customer base under the Ceridian brand.

This will result in an immediate cash inflow to OneClickHR of £0.9m with additional payments for support in future years.

Frank Beechinor-Collins (CEO of OneClickHR) commented: 'Ceridian exercising their option is a tremendous endorsement of their confidence in our HR.net technology. It also further strengthens our relationship with one of the leading payroll and HR outsourcing vendors in the UK and North America.'

Andy Botha (COO of Ceridian UK) commented: 'Our involvement with OneClickHR and their software has been instrumental in helping Ceridian achieve its goals. The recent success of Ceridian in winning a significant outsourcing contract demonstrates our service delivery excellence combined with technical innovation.'
